WHAT KIND OF CONTRACT DO I HAVE?

There are different types of contracts given to teachers. These include:

A FIXED-TERM CONTRACT should only be given when the need for the teacher's service is genuinely a temporary one. A fixed-term contract can lead to a continuous (permanent) contract in certain circumstances.

A CONTINUOUS CONTRACT is given to teachers who hold permanent full-time positions having completed the probation period satisfactorily.

A CONTRACT OF INDEFINITE DURATION (CID) may be given to teachers who have completed one year in a school, whose job is viable for a second year, and where there are no written, objective, justifiable grounds for not giving a second year. CIDs are subject to certain criteria. Once granted, a CID provides the same terms and conditions as a continuous contract (pro rata). It is a permanent contract.

GOT A QUESTION?

Beginning a career as a teacher brings much uncertainty. How can I find work? What type of contract do I have? What subjects can I teach? What are my rights and entitlements? What should I be paid? The ASTI is here to answer these questions and any other questions you have, as well as to offer advice, guidance and assistance to you throughout your career.
